

Arlene Vasant

Arlene Vasant was an AAU National Champion swimmer as a teenage, while attending Masey College earning her degree in Interior Design..... She has had a productive career including being the acting President of the Peanut Council, where she worked directly with Jimmy and Rosalyn Carter in Washington DC; and being the Assistant to the President of Granger Corporation, in Palo Alto, CA, where she also served as the President of the Employees Association (with 3000 members), as well as the Corporate Safety Officer.

She then became an accomplished entrepreneur who created several successful businesses, including being one of the only female real estate developers in California, an enterprise which flourished for over 15 years. She was asked to be featured in the Sacramento Magazine featuring women breaking into male dominant roles as the first woman developer in El Dorado County.

She was also a charter member and VP of the Optimist Club in El Dorado County, another example of breaking the mold, of male dominated officers of a service club...

At the same time she raised 4 children juggling family and career, part of this time as a single mother.

She is currently serving as the Membership Committee chair in our fellowship, sharing her vision to grow the congregation.
